

A complex phylogenetic tree with numerous tips, colored in blue, cyan, green, and yellow, showing a hierarchical branching structure. The tree is rooted at the top and branches downwards, with many tips extending horizontally. The tips are colored in various shades of blue, cyan, green, and yellow, indicating different groups or categories. The branching pattern is highly detailed, showing a large number of internal nodes and a dense network of tips. The overall shape is somewhat elongated and bushy, with many tips extending outwards from the central axis.

